Mr. Landoon then gave a brief account of what had been done in Europe by Christian Young Men. The first steps taken to form an Association there was on the 6th of June, 1844, just ten years from this day, when a young man called together a few friends in his chamber. From this sprung the London Association, and they are now to be found in every part of the globe, and the number rapidly increasing.

From Our Own Reporter.

TRENTON, Friday, June 9, 1854.

THIRD DAY—MORNING SITTING.

Mr. Braidwood introduced a series of Anti-Slavery resolves. Laid over to the afternoon sitting.

Mr. Laws (Del.) introduced a resolution highly eulogistic of Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, which led to a warm debate, and was referred to the Business Committee to report another series to include other distinguished friends of the cause.

The Business Committee then reported a series of resolutions—the 1st in favor of Land Lamitation; 2d, Inviolable Homestead; 3d, for the election of President and Vice-President; 4th, Against the appointing power of the President; as inmired to the sacred cause of Freedom and dangerons to the liberties of a free people, on the ground that State and National officers ought to be elected by the people; 5th, Against all life tenures in office.

Some other resolutions were adopted, against giving bounty lands to soldiers, on the high state of provisions, Free Schools, and against a division of school funds for sectarian purposes.

Afternoon sitting.

Mr. Gordon of Pa., was appointed Secretary from that State in place of Mr. Campbell.

The following resolutions presented from the Business Committee by Mr. Henderson, the Secretary, were taken up and adopted as follows with much unanimity, after a full debate, in which several of the members participated:

Resolved, That the National Industrial Congress approves of the Sermation of Emigrant Associations for Kansas and Nebrasia.

Resolved, That we recommond our fellow-industrials and the European emigrants now landing upon our shores to settle upon the ferrile soil of Kansas and Nebrasia.

The Business Committee presented majority and minority reports eulogistic of distinguished friends of the cause. The majority report complimented several U.S. Senators and State Executives, advocates of our cause, while the minority report specially eulogised the Governor of Tennessee. The latter was presented by Mr. Laws of Delaware, as a substitute for the majority report, and, after a considerable debate, was put and lost. The majority report was then tabled to give way to the special jority report was then tabled to give way to the special order, the preamble and series of resolutions presented by Mr. Thomas W. Brailwood of Pennsylvania, which were acted upon and adopted in the following order:

WASHINGTON, June 5, 1855.

L—At the General Court-Martial which convened at Fort Columbus, Harbor of New-York, pursuant to
"Special Orders, No. 30, of April 22, 1855, from the War Department, and of which Brigadier-General Henry Stanton, Assistant Quarternaster-General, is President, was arraigned and tried Brevet-Major Francis O. Wyse, Captain 3d Artillery, on the following charges and specifications: NAV— It reference, Protes, and Marso of N. 1., Brandwood, and Carden of Us—5.

On the adoption of the first resolution the vote stood:

Avis—Bruceron, Figure, and Marso (Coarman,) or N. Y., Staidwood, Perland, Gordon, and West of Pennsylvania. Shedden, Campbell, and Brown, New Jersey, Mills and Cook—6.

The remaining resolutions were neted upon by a rising vote by the Delegates from the different States, resulting thus, second resolution adopted 7 to 6; resolution three tabled, 5 to 4, resolve four carried, 5 to 4; resolves five and six tabled, 5 to 3; resolve seven carried, 5 to 4; resolve eight carried, 5 to 3. The Delegates voted upon the resolutions without debate, according to the language employed and issues raised.

fications:

Disobedience of Orders.

Specification—In this: That he, Brevet-Major Francis O. Wyse, Capitain 3d Regiment of Artillery, being ordered to proceed, in command of four Companies of his Regiment, from the Harbor of New-York to California, via the Isthmus of Darien, and for that purpose to embark on board the steamer Falcon, in the same harbor, on the 18th day of April, 1854, did, on the said day, contumaciously refuse and fail to obey said order.

Charge II.

Conduct unbecoming an effect and a gentleman.

Specification 1—In this: That he, the said Brevet-Major Wyse, Captain as aforesaid, being ordered to embark as aforesaid with four companies of his regiment for distant and important service, did on the day aforesaid, and just prior to the embarkation of the said four companies on that service, and without giving time to any competent superior to substitute another officer of suitable rank, relinquish the said command, aiready greatly deficient in officers, to a subsiltern of the same, on the false preference that the said steamer, although just inspected and approved by a hoard of superior effects of which he, the said Major Wyse, had been duly informed, was unseaworthy, and did himself refuse and fail to embark on the said steamer, which sailed without him, thereby shamefally abandoning his men to a supposed danger to which he was unwilling personally to expose himself.

the taking of this course was the adoption of resolutions against Sinvery which he considered impolitic and out of place.

Mr. Henderson of N. Y., moved the acceptance of the resignation of Mr. Laws. He could see no objection to the Congress taking action upon his resignation. It was evident that the Delegate from Delaware was no doughface. As a fellow-member of the Business Committee with his southern friend he would give him full credit for the employment of all his efforts to crush out the spirit of freedom from all resolutions referred by the Congress for the action of that Committee.

If was further moved to file Mr. Laws's communication, or to lay it upon the table, but the Chairman, (Mr. Marsh of N. Y., decided that no action could be taken upon it. Mr. Laws or any other Delegate, was perfectly at therty to secode or withdraw whenever he was dissatished with any of the proceedings.

A resolution was offered announcing it to be inexpedient to memorialize the United States Senate on the peoples Homestend bill, now before that body, and that the 7th resolution offered by Mr. West of Pennsylvania, denouncing the Senate for its non-action upon the question of Free Homes for All., be signed by the proper officers and forwarded to that body. Adopted.

THE NEW-YORK TRIESTS and Dady Times, The Treaton Gazette, and The Treat American, were thanked for their impartial reports of the proceedings and the interest they have given to the Labor Congress.

The following resolutions, which had passed the Business Committee by a vote of 3 to 1, were taken up and adopted by the Congress in the business Committee to the Labor Congress.

Specification 2—In this: That he, the said Brevet-Major Wyse, on the said eighteenth of April, a few bours arier the sailing of the said companies on board the said steamer, did officially declare to Leut-Colonel Thomas, Assistant-Adjurant-General, attached to the General Headquarters of the army, on being officially interrogated on the subject by the said Thomas, that he, the said Brevet-Major Wyse, but the said Thomas, that he, the said Brevet-Major Wyse, the said Thomas is the said Brevet-Major Wyse. had transferred or turned over substantially, but fully, to the said Brevet-Major next in rank (First-Lieutenant Lieer) in the said command, the instructions which he, the said Brevet-Major, had received for his own government in conducting the said command to its destination—which conducting the said command to its destination—which declaration was false.

Spefication 3—In this: That he, the said Brevet-Major Wyse, did falsely state, in an efficial communication addressed to Col. Cooper, Adjutant-General, dated April 1s, 1854, that on his, the Brevet Major's return from a seven days' leave of absence, on or about the 13th of said month, he then learned, for the first time, that he was to command the four commands of his regiment under orders for the favorably for legislative action, also deserve our thanks, and that we trost that they will confine to lattle for National and State Reform until our principles diffusately tramph.

Mr. Gothos of Pa. introduced a resolution, which was adopted, informing the public that the Industrial Congress had had no connection with certain profligate persons who had been a source of annoyance for some time pust, and who claimed to hold meetings under the name of Industrial Congresses, having reference to persons who had no connection with Industrial movements, but were continually taking advantage of the holding of these conventions to thrust themselves forward. Adopted unanimously.

The Committee to whom had been referred the selection of members of Standing Committees for 1854-55, reported the names of the members of a "Central Committee," to which some names were added from New York, Ohio and the Eastern States.

Central Committee—Messrs. N. W. Brown, Munco West, Thomas W. Bridwood, Charles Goepp and John Sheddon, (President of the Congress) of Philadelphia, B. M. Braker of N. J.; John C. Vauchan of Cleveland, Ohio, George W. Julian of Ind., D. C. Henderson et N. Y.; John Evans of Williamstie, Conn.; R. B. Metonell, Wilmigston, Del.

It was announced that a few alterations had been made from last year, and as Mr. Laws had dissolved his connection with the Congress, his name had been stricken of the list as Chairman of the Central Committee, and that a meeting of the Committee was assigned to the Central Committee.

The Congress adjourned sine die. he then learned, for the first time, that he was to command the four companies of his regiment under orders for the Department of the Pacific, whereas about the 5th of said month, when the said Brevet-Mejor applied in person, at the General Headquarters of the army, for the said leave of absence, he was informed by Lient, Col. Thomas, As-sistant-Adjutant-General, that he, the said Brevet Major, was to conduct the four companies to their destination. To which charges and specifications the accused pleaded not coulty.

Ity. FINDING AND SENTENCE OF THE COURT. After mature deliberation on all the evidence adduced the Court finds the accused, Brevet Major Francis O. Wyse, Captain Third Artillery, as follows:

And the Court does sentence him, Brevet Major Francis. Wyse, Captain Third Artillery, "To be dismissed the Martial having been laid before the President of the Uni-ial States, and by him duly examined and considered, the following are his orders in the case:

The people of Trenton took much interest in the proceedings and listened with great interest to the debates.

The delegates were practical and zealons men and by making short speeches got through with their business in true workingmen's style.

The Department regrets to find in these proceedings reason to apprehend that due care and judgment have not in all cases been exercised in the selection of transports for troops, and in this particular case it does not appear that the board of officers appointed by the general commanding the army to examine the steamer, made the thorough examination and inquiry which the circumstances and importance of the case suggested and demanded.

Officers of the Quartermaster's department intrusted with the selection of army transports, and unificary commanders charged with the embarkation of troops are enjoined to use, in every case, all practicable means to procure vessels entirely seaworthy and proper for such service. Extreme cases may occur for which it is not possible to provide. A public exigency may require the exposure of troops to the hazard of an unsafe transport, and then the justification would be found in the accessites of the occasion. But the public service requires from officers not only the exercise of due care and judgment to protect troops from an unnecessary exposure to such hazard-this being corelative to the military obligation of a sub-ordinate to meet the danger when ordered to do so by competent authority.

These observations, though slicited by the developments in this case, are not intended to get the submark to be conduct of Major Wyse in examining to opplose his judg-

On the roll being called, it was found that the city and country Ledges were well represented.

The minutes of the last quarterly communication of the Grand Lodge were read. On the question being asked if they should stand approved—R. W. John Van Buren rose and objected to their confirmation, on the ground that he had given notice of his intention to appeal against the decision of the Grand Lodge, in reference to a matter which had been disposed of at the last quarterly communication, and that said notice of appeal had not been recorded on the face of the minutes. The brother moved and seconded "that the minutes be corrected;" all he required was that the minutes should speak true. After a spirited debate, in which some of the brethren manifested an unruly desire to wander away from the merits of the question, the motion was at length put to the vote and carried.

The Grand Secretary then read his report, which, being drawn up with much care and attention, was well received.

STEAMER SAN FRANCISCO, AND THE CONDUCT OF COL.

ATES.
V. The Court of Inquiry, instituted by "Special Orders" No. 17, of January 28, 1834, from the War Department, whereof Major-General Winfield Scott is President, and which convened in the city of New-York on the 5th day of February, 1834, "to examine into all the circum"stances attending the embarkation, in December last, of "the troops under the command of Colonel William Gates,
"Third Artillery, on board the steamer San Francisco, des"tined for California, the cause of the failure of the expedition, and of the disorganization of the command at sea,
and all other facts and circumstances which may concern
"the conduct of the commander, and of the officers and
"men of the command," has submitted the following

EFFORT.

The Court, on a full review of all the evidence taken in

The Court, on a tan review or an interestical exacts before it, is of opinion:

That the officers charged with the selection of a vessel for the transportation of the United States Third Regiment of Artillery from the port of New-York, to ports in California, had every ground of a reasonable assurance that the steamer San Francisco, selected by them, was a good and sufficient transport for that purpose.

That the emissivation of the regiment on board the said and that part relating to Finance confirmed.

The M. W. Reuben H. Walworth, Grand Master, then delivered an appropriate address.

He stated that we had just cause of congratulation at the comparative few deaths which had taken place among the Fraternity, the past Masonic year having been almost free from death and disease. He congratulated them en the continued prosperity and rapid increase of the Order. He stated that there were over 264 Lodges, and 26 others working under dispensation in the State of New-York. He averaged the number of affiliated members to about 15,000; he stated that he had received a fraternal correspondence, to which he had replied in the same Masonic spirit, from Brether Lucien Marat, the Grand Orient of France—that the R. W. Hartly had been well received by the Grand Orient of Pera. He spoke in laudable terms of the noble feeling which actuated the Fraternity of Connecticut to erect a monument at Danbury, to the honor of our late distinguished brother. General Wooster, who fell there in defending his country a rights during the Revolutionary struggles. He then allused to other Lodges with whom we were not in brotherly communion and fraternal correspondence. Expressed his regret that the Christian Sabbath should in any way be desectated, and reprobated the practice of Lodges coming on that day especially set apart for divine worship. He concluded his beautiful address with a splendid enlogium on the first great light in Masonry—the Bible, from which we draw our wholesone doctrines; recommending this "Book "of books," as the "unerring rule of wisdom, and the "guide to eternal salvation."

The Treasurer's Report was then read by R. W. Charles That the embarkation of the regiment on board the said steamer was as orderly as practicable, considering the necessary intermediate agency of a small steam tug between Governor's Island and the transport.

That the troops seem to have been reasonably distributed, for quarters or lodgings, among the different parts of the transport, although under a combination of most unexpected events, four officers and about one hundred and seventy-five non-commissioned officers, and men from those assigned to the upper deck, were washed overboard and lost at the time of the wreck.

That the failure of the expedition or wreck of the transport, when but a few days at sea, was caused by a storin of extraordinary violence, and the breaking of the piston-rod of the air-pump (a new construction) at the hight of that storm.

That in respect to the disorganization of the command at sea, there seems to have been no insubordination or

That in respect to the disorganization of the command at sea, there seems to have been no insubordination or resistance of authority, even during the calamity that long threatened the loss of every life on board the transport, although a great number of the men were green recruits, and although four of the regimental officers had been swept into the sea; three officers at the same moment wholly maimed by hurts, and two more on the sick list; so that there remained but five company officers, (part of the time only four) two of the regimental staff officers, (part of the time but one) and one field officer for active duty.

That of course the command was further disorganized by the transfer from the wreck to the three receiving years, and the partial mining up of companies on board the latter, which under the circumstances, was almost the latter, which under the circumstances, was almost unavoidable.

But the Court with pain is obliged to add that there was, from the time of the wreck until the return into port, blameable disorganization at the head of the command—not the result of panic or physical incapacity, for General Gates, notwithstanding the loss of an interesting sen, seems to have been cool and quite active on foot, but disorganization resulting from family or crook-schess of mind, which, leaving him alive to his own instructure wants and those of his family, and to the first accidental chance of escape, caused him to neglect nearly every high duty imposed by his rank and the circumstances—such as the duty of going efter among his men, to cheer and animate them; of organizing and directing their labors in pumping, bailing and lightening the wreck, of organizing all the company officers "fit for duty," including the staff lieutenants, into regularing the transfer of persons and supplies from the wreck to the bark Kilby, and of regulating the labors and issues of bread and water on board of that vessel to which he was the first to hasten, instead of remaining in the steamer to superintend the transfer.

The neglect of most of these important obligations on the part of the commander three upon the junior officers, capable of physical effort, about of oach vessel that had Col. Gates as a pessenger, the necessity of supplying his deficiencies by spontaneous and extraordinary services, with more or less of voluntary concert among themselves. Thus, on the wreck, Second Lieutenants Chas. S. Winder, Van Vonst and Chandler particularly destinguished themselves, and seem to have earned a just claim to special commendation, and Brevet Wyse also rendered good services on the wreck, before and after the departure of the Colonel.

And so, again, in the Kilby, some of the junior officers

the Colonel.

And so, again, in the Kilby, some of the junior officers And so, again, in the Killy, some of the jumor omices there with Col. Gates were obliged under continued privations and sufferings, to take upon themselves many important duties of command for the common safety of all on board. In this connection Capt. Gardiner of the 1st Dragoons, crippled with the rheumatism, who embarked with the 3d Artillery as a passenger for California, and Second-Lieutenant Van Vonst seem entitled to special notes.

Second-Lieutenant Van Vonst seem entitled to special notice.

The Court feels itself called upon to specify the act of Col. Gates in taking, against the admonation of the surgeon, a case of measles in his family on board the San Francisco, to the great danger of many men, women and children, who were fellow-passengers, and liable to receive an infection nearly as bad at sen as the small pox; and also, to specify his doctaration made on board the Kilby in respect to extra water, that he cared nothing for his men, with an oath, and would rather twenty of them should die than his child should suffer or die, when there was no immediate danger that any one on board would perish from thirst. The Court regard the conduct of Col. Gates in these instances as highly selfish and censurable.

A specific accusation having been presented by Colonel Gates against Captain Gardiner, before meationed, relative to the parioning of food on board the bark Kilby, the Court directed that the witnesses should be called, as the matter came under the orders of the War Department instituting this court, and Colonel Gates having further charged the same officer with immering with a witness, sent for by the Colonel to support the previous accusation.

stituting this court, and Colonel Gates having farthe charged the same officer with tampering with a witness sent for by the Colonel to support the previous accusation which tampering, if true, would have been a high act o cottempt towards this Court, and Captain Gardiner urgin; an investigation, the Court directed Colonel Gates, a presecutor, to adduce the evidence on which he had made those grave allegations. Accordingly, many witnesses have been called and examined, and the Court is constrained to say that the said allegations against Captain Gardiner were entirely groundless, and seem to have originated in a spirit of gross malignity.

SHIP-WRECKED PASSENGERS.

About one hendred of the passengers landed at Richitageto, arrived here on Thursday from the Bend, and were on Friday forwarded by the Emigration Officer by the steamer Admiral, to Portland, whence they will be sent by railway to Montreal. There were in all about 165 landed at Richibucto, some of whom have remained there, and others have obtained employment here at the Cathedral, as masons and stone-cutters.

The Helen Thomson, of the burden of 544 tuns, sailed from Troon on the 14th April, for Quebec, and had a fine passage until best in the ice off the coast of Newfoundland, on the 7th May. Until the 18th, the vessel continued to struggle through the ice—on that day about uoon, also ran against a floe of ice and stove in her bowport, which was considerably below water, the vessel having on board about 360 tuns of coal and 130 tuns of pig iron. By great exertions, she was kept afloat for two hours. The bark Sarah was close at hand and commenced taking off the passengers. In ten minutes after the last boat load left her, the Helen Thomson went down head first, taking all the passengers effects, they saving nothing but what was on their persons. Two brigs from Quebec came up and took 12 passengers each, being all they could accommodate. The bark Eva also took ten more—and supplied those in the Sarah with some bread, rice, and three casks of water. On the 23d May they were landed at Richibacto, where they were kindly treated by the inhabitants, and furnished with clothing by the Assistant Emigration Officer here. [New Brunswicker, St. John, N. The weather yesterday was cool and delightful, and a greater number of people were abroad than on any pre-vious day this year. The favorability of the weather and the rumors of probable riots connected with street-preaching fairly emptied the houses, especially of the foreign-born population, whose habit it is (with some exceptions.) to make the first day of the week a day of pastime, visit ing, excursions and carousals. Every out-of-town place reasonably accessible was invaded by an army, like the locusts of Egypt in number, and hardly less voracious. Railroad care and stages reaped the usual hebdomadal harvest, and the rum-shops did a smashing business. As late as 9 o'clock in the evening the streets were all alive with the returning crowds—most of them more fatigued and disspirited than they would have been by a whole week of regular labor.

THE MUSICAL CONGRESS .- The arrangements for the Musical Congress at the Crystal Palace next Thursday, are going on very extensively. A staging constructed with reference to acoustic effects, is now being erected at a cost of over $2,000—an immense affair—capable of holding two of our City regiments. This will be a great, an indispensable addition to the lyrical requirements of the place. A good place to stand on and enounce is often overlooked on such occasions, and was fatal to the effects of the reinauguration of the Palace. The colossal dight impeding statue in the center under the dome has been taken down, which is a vast gain. The programme will he the most choice selection of music that the reportory of the art affords.

-According to the rules of the Crystal Palace, the price of admission, except for certain reserved seats, cannot exceed fifty cents—the lowest-priced Musical festival on record. Such things—as well as good concerts—cost in Engiand a guines—five dollars.

The Broadway will close for the season on Saturday. "Faustus" will be played every night. On Thursday Mr. Warren, the Treasurer, and Mr. Nagles, Assistant Trensurer—two very gentlemanly and attentive officers—will have a benefit, when the house will be full. On Friday the Misses Goughenheim's benefit. These young ladies are deservedly popular, on account of the care and spirit which they manifest in their profession. This is their first appeal to the New-York public, and it will no doubt be cerdially and profitably responded to.

At the National Theater, melo-drama and farce hold the public attention. The "Fairy Light Guard," played last week, was a most laughable affair. We notice for tonight "The Magic Well" and "Mazeppa the Second, or the Wild Steed of Williamsburgh," in which there will be fun.

LECTURE ON NINEVER .- The Rev. LEONARD W. Mr. Bacon visited Mosul in the summer of 1851, and his adventures in the Koordish Mountains are no doubt fresh in the recollection of our readers. His lecture cannot fail to be interesting.

Genin. Yesterday church-goers who waded through the dust and filth of that street went to their prayers with anything but a forgiving spirit for th abominable neglect of those whose duty it is to sweep this street every night. That it was not swept last Saturday night-the very night of all others in the week that it should be swept-there was an abundant amount of evi dence. If the Street Commissioner is utterly incapable, or his subordinates entirely incompetent to the task, for pity's sake let them get out of the way of private enterprise, and then we shall be able to walk Broadway without being choked with dust or stuck in the mud, or being constantly tempted to disobey the injunction, "Swear not at all," at the fifthy condition of this street, and the filthier condition of a Municipal Government that can, but will not, keep a slight disturbance occurred at the Staten Island Ferry between two boys named Samuel Gormer and William Hawthorne. Gormer drew a pistol upon a gentleman named Myers, of No. 16 Park-place, and struck him with his fist. It appears that Gormer first struck a lady who was under the protection of Myers, when he struck him in return, upon which Gormer drew the pistel and was about to fire it at him, when it was wrested from his hand by the bystanders. The officers of the Ward arrested Hawthorne and Gormer, upon which the people in the neighborhood, who were ready for a fight, came crowding around in a state of great excitement to rescue them. The mob was dispersed, however, without any serious conse quences.

ARREST OF DISORDERLY PIREMES.-At 2 o'clock yes terday morning the runners with Hose Companies Nos 29 and 31 got into a fight together in Avenue C, when stones and other weapons were freely used. Those be-lenging to No. 31 were finally routed, and had their hose carriage upset by their opponents. The Eleventh Ward Police were on the ground immediately afterward, and arrested Thomas Joens, Daniel Sullivan, Michael Healey, Charles Carpenter, John Morton, Albert Stvers, and Andrew Mulligan, charged with being participators in the disturbance. They were taken before Justice Wood and held to await examination.

SUICIDE.—John Inhoff, a German, 20 years of age, was missed from Ward's Island about a week ago, and vesterday his body was found in the river near the Island. Coroner O'Donnell held an inquest upon it and the jury, after hearing the testimony, came to the conclusion that he had committed suicide by drowning.
